

ABSTRACT

A portable measuring device for use in sport, comprising a housing (6) provided with a sensor (34), a receiver (27), and emitter and a processing unit (26). The housing is adapted 5 in such a way that it can transmit signals from the sensor (34) of the housing to a remote display and acts as relay receiving signals from a remote detector worn by a user and re-emits said signals to the remote display.